

WALLFLOWER

www.wallflowerfilm.com

"Wallflower is complex, empathetic and often poetical"

VARIETY

"A confident narrative-directing debut"

THE CROP DUSTER

"...will be seen as a critique of the Tump age and rural rage"

THE STRANGER

PRESS

STORY

"The tragic Capitol Hill massacre of 2006 is the basis for this harrowing fictional drama about a man planning to commit a mass shooting who is befriended by an eccentric group of ravers and finds himself conflicted about his intentions."

Seattle International Film Festival staff

"In the movie, the killer (called the Murderer) is an angry white male who guns down ravers who are peace-loving, cosmopolitan, and sex-positive."

Charles Mudede, The Stranger

Jagger Gravning Writer/Director

An award-winning filmmaker as well as an actor and writer.

Some of his early gonzo video journalism has been called "amazing" by the Stranger's Eli Sanders.

His film, Jagger Gravning Syndrome: the Greatest Documentary of Our Time won the grand jury prize at Seattle's 2010 Independent Film Festival. His writing has appeared in several notable publications including the Atlantic, Vice and Gawker media. TIME Magazine named one of his articles #1 on their list of "the days most fascinating news on the web." Gravning serves on the board of SAG-AFTRA's Seattle branch. He has personal connections to the events on which Wallflower is based.

FILMMAKERS

John W. Comerford Producer/Story

John is President of Paradigm Studio and served on the board of The Seattle International Film Festival, now at the Northwest Film Forum. His latest work consists of the critically acclaimed series, Icons Among Us: jazz in present tense and the award-winning conservation documentary The Breach. His work has been distributed and exhibited by Showtime, Netflix, Public Television, iTunes, Amazon AFI, SIFF, SXSW and the Cannes Film Market.

Robinson Devor Executive Producer/Editor

Named one of Variety's "10 Directors To Watch", Devor made his feature film directorial debut with The Woman Chaser. Devor recently received a Genius Award for his work as a film director, an annual grant presented by the Stranger, an alternative weekly in Seattle, Washington – his current home. A native New Yorker, Devor received his BFA in film at Southern Methodist University. He has also trained and volunteered as a suicide counselor in Los Angeles.

Mike Solidum

Director of Photography

Michael Solidum is an award-winning MFA graduate and Fellow of the American Film Institute. In addition to his four feature films in post-production he has a resumé that covers his career path which spanned both UCLA and USC.

He joined us via an outstanding recommendation by lead actress Atsuko Okatsuka

William Haugh

Executive Producer

Wallflower marks William's third film collaboration with producer John W. Comerford. Galvanizing cultural conversation, the lynchpin of William's personal and professional journey, makes Wallflower the perfect vehicle to enhance understanding of the cultural divides currently dominating our national dialogue with context and compassion.
